No Seat Saving For Assemblies

at Forum and Devotional assemblies have been invited to seat students in all unoccupied seats. According to MacComas, administrative assistant in charge of ushering, procedure is in accordance with BYU's policy of equality. It is felt that all students who come on him to assemblies deserve an equal chance to obtain a comfortable seat. BYU President Lynn Southam said, "no person is entitled to a seat unless he is sitting in it." Plenty of seating is available in the Smith Fieldhouse for all students who wish to attend Forum and Devotional. To insure ample seating for Devotionals, overflow areas exist in the Joseph Smith Auditorium with television, and in the Varsity Theater of the Wilkinson Center with sound.

Policy On Board 'No' Clarified

More reasons for the depletion of block seating for the Wyoming football game have come to light since the decision was made late Tuesday night.

Student Athletic Board Chairman John Hawkins told the Daily Universe that his board was faced with the task of distributing about 7,000 tickets on block seating to meet an anticipated demand of approximately 12,000 students.

The only alternative available to keep block seating for the game would have been to cut off about half of the groups that have had block seating in the past, The Board said.

VOTE CHANGED

Although an initial vote was 3-2 to retain block seating by the ticket body, when they became aware of additional facts, two votes changed making it 4-1 in favor of not having block seating, Mr. Hawkins said.

BYU General Ticket Office official said that his office did not make the decisions concerning how many tickets would be available, but this was decided by the University Athletic Board, headed by Floyd J. Miller.

EVERYONE IN

Student Athletic Board Chairman Hawkins said efforts would be made to "seat every student who wants to come to the game Saturday."

In other action relating to the ticket controversy, the ASBYU Assembly heatedly discussed the ticket policy in its Monday night meeting.

ASSEMBLY CONSIDERS

Assemblyman Mark Howard reported there were about 15,000 seats on the East side of Cougar Stadium. He said students would receive about 1,000 for special groups (card section and band) plus the other 7,000 for general students (those who would have been for block seating use).

Assemblyman Howard reported that 5,918 of the remaining tickets would go to faculty, staff, and family (a substantial increase over the homecoming game allotment) and about 1,500 for the overflow of the General Steelworkers Company group of 5,000.

ASBYU President Lynn Southam said Tuesday that he was not informed about the overflow of tickets when he told the Daily Universe Monday that the General Tickets would only be in the reserved sections.

The General Ticket Office officially said that normally about 1,000 to 1,500 on the students side are sold for general admission or reserved tickets to the public anyway.

Tickets will still be available to students beginning at 10:30 a.m. Saturday.

On the reserved seat side, The General Ticket Office anticipates a standing room only sell-out.

A Wise Ticket Decision After All

We're always happy to offer a view—especially when we have more facts on the subject.

That's the position we find ourselves in on the subject. At least, Board decision is good block seating for the Wyoming game.

Although communication was slow in coming, we are happy to learn and have students and faculty know the real reasons behind the decision. The misuse of the block seating system was only one factor in the final decision to mix block seating for this week.

One of the biggest problems staring the Board in the face was how to distribute 7,000 tickets to 12,000 students on their ordinary block seating plan.

Had they decided to keep block seating and cut off half the groups who were issued block seating—or cut all group allotment to half or less?—imagine the hue and cry that would have been raised by the students.

The letters to the editor that have been trickling in to us would have become a landslide.

And how would the Student Athletic Board decide who to keep for block seating. Should the IK's get block tickets instead or the Spurs? Circle K over Spotswood?

Smashing the block groups to half or their normal allotments would have created some angry ticket charron and even angrier group members and disruptors in group activities.

Everyone who wants to go see the Wyoming game Saturday will get in the stadium—of that we are sure.

But it is a shame that two facts, a bizarre set of circumstances on the big game of the year, and students abuse of a fairly efficient student distribution system, have prevented block seating for the Wyoming game.

There still appear to be some difficulties in communication that need to be straightened out between the Student Athletic Board, The ASBYU Executive Council, The BYU General Ticket Office, And The University Athletics Board.

But the attitude of the best interests of the students seems to prevail w/ the Student Athletic Board. And we're certain that as they keep working at it, a ticket distribution policy will emerge that will satisfy the majority—certainly never all—students.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor's Note: Letters to the editor should be typed, double-spaced, on 8 1/2 x 11 paper and limited to 250 words or less. Letters should be submitted to the Daily Universe, P.O. Box 4462, Provo, Utah 84602.

STUDENT ATHLETIC BOARD

The Student Athletic Board has received much criticism in the past few days. Perhaps some of it is justified but the majority is not. Especially the letter to the editor that accused them of being indulgent and slothful. The Board may make mistakes in judgment, but they cannot justly be accused of being indulgent.

Perhaps some explanation needs to be made as to what members of the Athletic Board do. It is a conservative estimate to say each member spends at least 17 hours a week working with tickets.

If anyone doubts this, I'm sure any member will let you follow them around for one week. When block seating is given out, they spend hours blocking out the sections the groups will be given and dividing the tickets into corresponding bundles. They then make arrangements for handing the tickets out both at the game and before the game.

They receive countless calls from individuals concerned with the ticket problem. They work on methods for improving the handing out of tickets. Over the last two years, the athletic board has considered hundreds of suggestions for improving the ticket policy.

They have spent hours with the athletic department working the problem out. Through the advantages of the computer, they try to incorporate the good points. Nine tenths of all suggestions given to the board have already been considered.

The original idea of block seating came from the Athletic Board. From the outset one of the main objections to block seating was the worry that the ticket would be misused as they have been. However, at the time it was felt that the plan was worth trying because the students wouldn't abuse the system.

It is very unfortunate that some students have abused it. Block seating has not permanently been done away with. However, if the students continue to abuse the policy, block seating may be done away with.

We should thank the Student Athletic Board instead of condemning them.

A SUGGESTION

Editor:

It doesn't matter now whether or not there was sufficient reason the cancellation of fall block seating. The decision has been made. The students will simply have to wait in line at 10:30 A.M. Saturday for their tickets—all 10,000 of them! Let's face it—the Wyoming game will be the most important game for our team to play this year.

Few of us will want to miss it, but many will; not many people relish the idea of waiting in line for hours, giving up precious study time that could be used for study, chores, or for relaxation.

There must be a better way for students to obtain tickets than by waiting in super-long lines at the stadium. Wouldn't it be possible to distribute the tickets simultaneously from several different locations?

I suggest the possibility of using the ticket booths in the Wilkinson Center, the fieldhouse, and the old stadium—as well as the new stadium—to apportion the tickets. Of course, this system would require that activity cards be punched.

I realize that this suggestion does not provide much detail, and that it will take effort and cooperation for it to work under the present situation, but I offer it with the hope that it may provide a partial answer to an obvious problem.

FORT CARSON, Colo. — There are only 20 chaplains in the U.S. Army who are members of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, and Fort Carson now has one of them.

He is Capt. Alred M. Christensen, and he will conduct services each Sunday at 2 p.m. in Chapel II, in addition to assisting Chaplain (Capt.) Paul Garrity there.

Chaplain Christensen is a Navy veteran who was at Haiphong and Hanoi during the evacuation in 1975. Then a petty officer third class, he was an operating room technician working under Dr. Tom Doyle.

He returned to Tremonton, Utah, following his Navy hitch, to earn his bachelor's degree in history at the University of Utah, and his master's in history and philosophy of religion at Brigham Young University.

During his last year at BYU he taught religion, and for another three years he taught Bible and church history at a Latter-day Saints seminary. This was in line with family tradition, for his great-great grandfather was a Lutzen bishop in Denmark and a number of other ancestors were university professors.

Fresman elections are over. Homecoming queens regaled us. Most Preferred Mannequins are defunct. Organ contests are essentially sparse, but numbers—the social ladder have rung-up a new high.

Many, however, are weary to how to horn-in on ascension. Observation indicates that low man on the scale must baffle his weight around. He can also take vantage of the fact that excited oxygen rises, and use principle in gaining upward momentum. Therefore, escalating socialite should spew gaseous bromides and hot air. Such phraseology as, "Gosh-a-rooie, ain't I peacock," and other meaningless platitudes "I'll be a star" are stirring spirit. Remember a spoonful of sugar makes the physician go down.

BUY A MUSTANG

- 2. Pretend to agree with everybody.
- 3. Don't condemn a person to his face—remember knife in the back is worth three in the breast.
- 4. Wear a "Rah, Rah" button everywhere you go.
- 5. Buy a Mustang and horse around.

Once on the Good Guy list, the steed will have ridden enough in the social soil to become a big weed, if can out-bustle the other bloomers. The illusion of chivalry, and celestially must be copiously maintained. Furthermore, it must be remembered that clothes make colors. Pink, plum and persimmon colored blazers, comp with gaudy monograms, are mandatory.

Opposite colors should include black socks and brogue shoes. Striped shirts and cumbersomes cravats are likewise protocol. NAME BRAND ATTIRE IS ESSENTIAL. Keep in mind that half of success is a phone facial.

LIVE RIGHT RIOT-EOUSLY

Off campus activities are important for the social circuit. One cannot be too careful about selecting his remedy. It is crucial to be caught at Humble Homes, Pardise Village, or Average Above.

The venue you should choose between Patronage Plaza, Conformist Cottages, Pimpin Flats, Shopping center should be seriously selected. Avoid such undistinguished stores as Prudential Shacks, Common Clotchers, and Medi-Ministry. Spend freely at Bourgeois Boots, Superdri Shirts, and Hingedow Huts.

With these basics in mind anyone can climb. So if lay assumptions — tailgate foxey. Don't forget to hit old man up for an extra $300 this week. As your Mum would say, so-called ain't hay.

BYU Studio To Produce Movie On Ette Lee

Thousands of persons from coast to coast soon will be able to view the life story of Ette Lee, now 80, the little school teacher who made a fortune and invested it in the rehabilitation of problem boys.

The biopic film is being produced by the Motion Picture Studio at BYU and will be released to many television stations in every part of the United States.

The semi-documentary film is the result of requests from all over the U.S. for information about Miss Lee and her work, according to Wetzel O. Whittaker, director of the BYU Studio and producer and director of the movie. It is being produced at the request of the LDS Church Information Service in Salt Lake City.

48-YEAR SPAN

Covering a span of 40 years, the film begins with Miss Lee in 1918, just after she received her master's degree and began a career in teaching. The remainder of the movie is devoted to her struggles, including highlights of her work with supposedly "incorrigible" boys.

Jenna McMahon, the actress who plays Miss Lee, had to be aged by use of a makeup artist from Hollywood so that she would appear to age in various scenes of the show. As a result the young lady appears late in the film as 80-year-old Miss Lee.

The World At A GlanceHot Issues In New Congress

by Dave Hoover
Wire Editor

It would appear that, with all the glowing talk from Washington on what was accomplished by the 89th Congress, nothing has been left for the 90th. Really now? The 89th not only left what may become a spectacular tidal wave of unfinished business, it also created new "handle with care" issues that must be decided by the new Congress.

WHICH METHOD?

The 90th Congress will, unfortunately, have the task of deciding whether a lottery would be more fair than selective service as a method of picking men for Army.

One note that the 89th was happy to pigeonhole the draft. The Congressional Record has been studded with criticism of the present deferment system. It is blamed for encouraging the smart and/or rich to college while the less endowed (mentally and racially) go to Viet Nam.

LUCK VS JUDGMENT

Some members have suggested that a fairer system would be to place all names in a hat and fill draft calls by luck of the draw. Veteran Draft Director, Lewis Hay, has angrily replied that "Judgment is always better than luck."

In thing for sure, the 90th Congress will have to take some action to either affirm the current system or change it because present draft authority will expire.

BIGGER CHECKS

also is the Congress that will jump at the chance to fat monthly checks for the Social Security set. It will tackle not quite so enthusiastically the question of raising Income Tax.

Another exciting area of dispute, which the 90th Congress probably will not escape, is campaign spending. For all intents and purposes none now exists. Among touchy little items to fall by the wayside since was the "latest" Civil Rights Bill. Fiery Fog-Dirkson, who won the filibustering oratorical art, lectured to senators on rights of property, etc., the Open Housing provision.

Whether Civil Rights legislation is revitalized in '68 is questionable. However, anti riot bills will likely sustain further agitation and hearings.

Viet Nam FIRST

One of the first orders of business will be a huge bill to help defray rising costs of Viet Nam. Comes a decision on taxes. The 90th Congress, of the new GOP complexion, will vote a tax if Johnson insists that one is needed.

Legislative hearings have already been promised on legislation to stop electronic eavesdropping. Space committee already worrying about where to go after we're on the moon. And, someone is sure to follow up on the "boycotts" with hearings on whatever or someone has emerged by that time.

Regardless of its party complexion, the 90th Congress can be counted on to discover other problems for it may or, more likely, may not find the answers.

Last Football Rally...Bonfire Will Kick Off 'Blue' Days

Steve Gillespie, pep publicity chairman, announced Tuesday that the bonfire initially planned for the University of Utah game will be ignited Thursday at 6 p.m.

Gillespie said, "This will probably be the most spectacular bonfire in the history of BYU because it will be touched off by gunpowder."

CLASS COMPETITION

The valiant efforts of the freshman and junior classes to gather wood over a period of several weeks, have been pitted against the sophomore and senior classes. The pep committee will also sponsor its own bonfire to arouse more interest in the competition.

In addition to the bonfire, which will help fire up Cougar fans for the crucial BYU-Wyoming grid clash, Thursday and Friday have been designated as "wear blue" days.

OPEN FOR BUSINESS

"The jail operation during 'anti-red' days was so successful," Gillespie said, "that we have decided to open the jail for business on Thursday and Friday."

Americans Detained

Washington (UPI)—Two Americans accused of stealing a bronze bear from a Leningrad hotel are being investigated for "other unlawful actions," particularly concerning foreign currency regulations, the Russians have informed the United States.

The State Department said Tuesday that Soviet authorities cited this as their reason for turning down a U.S. request that the two be released on bond.

Bud Ray Wortham of North Little Rock, Ark., and Craddock Matthew Gilmour of Salt Lake City, Utah, have been held in jail in Leningrad since Oct. 1. A Soviet investigation of the theft charge is supposed to be completed between Nov. 29 and Nov. 15.

SAMOA, JORDAN: This Israeli photo shows the attack of Israeli Army units on the Jordanian border village of Samoa. After evacuating residents of this town, the Israelis blew up a number of the village's houses, in "reprisal" for an alleged Jordanian raid on Israel's territory. The incidents sparked new border tensions between the two nations.

Mid-East Simmering Again

Jerusalem (UPI)—Dark smoke climbed with the sun today along the explosive Israeli-Arab frontier where a fragile quiet belled the most serious war threat in a decade in the Middle East.

Israeli and Arab troops fidgeted in outposts along their respective sides of the desert border.

Syrian and Israeli machine gunners duelled sporadically Monday north of the Sea of Galilee for seven hours.

No casualties were reported in the prolonged exchange in hill country 10 miles north of the inland sea.

ACCUSE SYRIANS

Israeli officials said the Syrians initiated the exchange. The Israeli Army crossed the border to the south Sunday and razed three border villages in Jordan.

The Israelis said their raid was in retaliation against continued Arab terrorist incidents inside Israel.

The raid surfaced a growing dispute between Jordan and Syria, two of the Arab Allies who are jointly vowed to crush the Jewish state.

Syria accused King Hussein of Jordan of deriding border villagers of weapons they need to defend themselves against Israeli attacks.

Hussein, therefore, in effect cooperated with the Israeli raid Sunday, a Radio Damascus broadcast said.

DISORGANIZED FRONT

The attack by Hussein, moreover, than most Arabs with regard to Israel, highlighted the unscrupulous character of the Arab front against the Israelis.

Syria's socialist regime has long been an opponent of both Israel, and for internecine reasons, the Hashemite Dynasty in Jordan persecuted by Hussein.

The Syrian broadcast Monday, Hussein's 31st birthday, claimed the Hashemite Dynasty would shortly be overthrown.

Hussein had no public comment on the Syrian charges Monday. He toured Jordanian border posts with visiting Pakistani President Mohammad Ayub Khan, who pledged his country's support for Arab claims to restore the usurped Palestine."

Astronauts Ready For Splash

Space Center, Houston (UPI)—Running low on fuel and water, astronauts James Lovell and Edwin (Buzz) Aldrin today eased their crippled spacecraft toward the final splashdown in the Gemini program.

To save their dwindling maneuvering fuel, the Gemini 12 astronauts let their cabin drift powerless around the world during the last night of their four-day journey. They did that to ensure that they would have enough fuel left to perform some last-minute experiments and then bring them safely through their fiery re-entry into the earth's atmosphere.

In addition to the fuel shortage the astronauts had to hand pump the water to finish their reconstituted breakfasts. With less than two gallons remaining, there was not enough pressure for their regular running water supply.

Lovell and Aldrin also lost a second stack of the six-stack fuel cell that provides electrical power. They lost one stack Sunday.

In spite of the new problems, space officials said the astronauts should be able to nurse the craft through the final hours of the flight.

Johnson Blamed For GOP Election Gains

Washington (UPI)—President Johnson—billed as his party's No. 1 politician—is being tagged by some Democrats as the scapegoat for Republican election gains.

The party's losses extended through the cities and into the counties and states where once powerful machines sputtered and stalled for lack of money and guidance.

NO FUNDS

The lack of money—to help vulnerable Democrats—and guidance was attributed by some to Johnson's propensity for running things himself which alienated the Democratic National Committee.

A possible casualty of the election may be Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey who has been serving since 1961.

While the tendency to blame the President may be exaggerated because he cancelled a final campaign swing after his Asian trip, it is still present and began some months before the election itself.

FUND RAISING QUESTIONED

Democrats could not understand why the party in power was having difficulty raising funds while the Republicans seemingly were having no troubles.

They contrasted the $100 contributions from the GOP boosters, clubs to candidates with the $2,000 given by Democrats though they were lucky to get.

Other factors were cited as reasons for Democratic losses, among them voter uncertainty over Viet Nam and the economy, defections of Negro voters, and harder work by GOP organizations which overcame Democratic groups infected with "dry rot."

But the loudest mutterings still center on the President's role, including administration insistence on controversial measures in the final stages of the 88th Congress.

UNPOPULAR CONGRESS

Congressmen, particularly in the House, resented having to vote such controversial proposals as Civil Rights Bill with an o housing provision they predicted accurately would never pass Senate.

All they got was the political advantages of white backlash attacks from real estate interests without any compensating political benefits of having a law to be about.

was made by the Chemway Corp., a diversified drug and cosmetics concern.

The company's president, Louis E. S. Santamaria, said the 150 women questioned were scattered through a wide variety of business firms from advertising agencies to heavy industry. Their salary range was from $30 to $175 per week. Both single and married women were asked.

Top items on the spending list were hair products and services, followed closely by face care products. The study also showed that starting with the teen-ager, when the increase in time and money spent is the highest, the curve goes up through the 20's. After courtship and marriage, the figure remains very high. After the children are grown and the woman goes back to work,

MATCHES GROCERY BILL

Working women accounted for 47 per cent of all purchases of lipsticks, facial creams, perfumes and colognes.

Even though some individual spending on beauty sometimes almost matches the grocery bill each week, few of the women questioned intended to cut back on cosmetics.

As Jody B., a 25-year-old market research analyst put it: "Buying beauty products and services is like buying food. You need them both equally well . . . It's something that has become so ingrained in me that I just make sure I have enough money to spend on makeup before I buy anything else."

COST OF BEAUTY

However, some of the girls felt that cost of beauty care could get out of hand. Cindy G., a 21-year-old receptionist, was cutting back on beauty costs after moving into her own apartment.

"I used to go to the beauty parlor much more often," she said, ". . . now I do my hair myself . . . hairstyles have become more casual, so that helps."

One of the higher salaried women questioned, Lucy K., 30 and married, felt that careful makeup in the morning helped her the whole day. ". . . if my makeup is not on right," she said, ". . . it dampens my entire spirit and I just can't function properly."

Registration Is Now Underway for College Bowl Competition

The BYU College Bowl program now underway, with registration opening today and continuing until Nov. 21. Competition is scheduled to begin Nov. 30.

Teams will participate in four categories: wards, residence halls, clubs and organizations, and independents. It is hoped that every ward, residence hall and club will field at least one team. Independent teams are also encouraged to join.

WINNING TEAM

Under these four divisions, 14 college bowls will be held weekly such places as the Varsity Theater.

Teams will compete until all but a team in each division has been eliminated. These winning division teams will then compete against each other. The championship team will vie with the four top members of losing teams to gain the direction of the Vice President of Academics, Paul Gilbert, and general college bowl chairman, Stuart Collier.

Competition for all college bowls will be based on the rules of the television college bowl program. Each team will consist of four members and a coach, who may be a member of the team. Questions will be of a general nature on all types of subjects.

ALL INVITED

The committee wishes to stress that competition will be such that everyone will be able to participate—not just the geniuses or campus. However, they are invited too.

The college bowl program is under the direction of the Vice President of Academics, Paul Gilbert, and general college bowl chairman, Stuart Collier.

The main objective of the college bowl is to spotlight academic achievement through a program that everyone can enjoy either as a participant or a spectator.

SUPPORT NEEDED

"After making preparations and visualizing the possibilities of the college bowl competition, the members of our committee are tremendously enthused about the program. We feel it has great potential as an exciting and worthwhile academic contest which will give deserved recognition to students who have excelled in this area. With the support of the student body, we are confident that this program can become a traditional part of BYU," said Collier.

Official registration sheets and copies of the rules and regulations may be picked up in the Academic Office, 434 Wilkinson Center.

There will be a meeting for all team coaches on Nov. 21, in 115 Knight Bldg. at 7 p.m. Rules and regulations will be given and it is mandatory for a representative of each team to be present. Registration sheets may be returned at this time.

The rewards of the program are

Experiences Build Fervor

by Gary Wood

There seems to be little that Summer School Director Dean N.
Peterson hasn't done.

Named to his current position in 1958, Dr. Peterson served until 1959 when he accepted a call to be president of the Norwegian Mission of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

GRANTED LEAVE

He was granted a leave of absence during the three-year period as mission president, Keith R. Oaks being appointed to head the Summer School in his place.

Dr. Peterson graduated from BYU in 1938 with a B.S. in busness. He received an M.S. degree from the University of Southern California in 1942 and a doctoral degree in business education from USC in 1959.

In the interim, Dr. Peterson was selected by the U.S. State Department to serve a stint in Iran as part of the government's Point
Four technical assistance program.
While in Iran he became an economic advisor to the Iranian oil minister between the headquarters of the International Cooperation administration and the three Utah
University staffs in that country.

UTAH PROFESSORS

"Professors from the University of Utah, Utah State University and BYU were asked to administer the Point Four program in Iran," explained Dr. Peterson, "because the agriculture and especially of the state is similar to that of Iran." He saw a great improvement in the economic and social situation here while I was in the program," Peterson said.

"We helped the people to grow wheat better, started booming paper industry and even helped establish a water purification plant."

"They wanted me to come home after two years, but I was enjoying it so much I asked to stay another year."

ENTHUSIASM PREVAILS

Dr. Peterson's enthusiasm carried over into his assignments at BYU, where he is a professor of business education and administrator of Business Teacher Education program.

"I think that capacity I'm in charge of assisting students in business who want to certify to teach," he said, "and thereby I have one leg in the College of Education and one in the College of Business."

SUMMER SCHOOL

"As Director of the Summer School, Dr. Peterson has witnessed an exceptional growth."

"We're expanding our course programs all the time to accommodate the students," he said, "as more students are taking advantage of the opportunity."

Explaining the new and greater trend toward year-round study, Dr. Peterson said that many students think summer is a good time to begin their college studies or to complete their graduation requirements.

KENT OBORN

Carter Nears National Mark

BYU quarterback Virgil Carter is closing in on several national records as the Cougars prepare for their two remaining games. Carter needs only 201 yards to match the career total offense record set by Drake University's Johnny Bright in the 1949-51 seasons.

He needs to be involved in but 35 plays to tie Jerry Rhome's (Tulsa) NCAA record.

And the versatile quarterback needs four touchdown passes to tie the national mark of 46 set by Babe Parilli.

In the competition for the 1966 leadership in total offense, Carter is only 58 yards behind West Texas State's Hank Washington, squad, he caught seven passes in Saturday's victory, one for a touchdown. Kent also ran a punt return for a 74-yard TD.

Probably the highlight of his college grid career was a 94-yard football return against the University of Arizona last year which set a WAC and school record.

Oborn, a senior, also ranked high on statistics sheets his sophomore year when he led the Conference in kick-off returns and punt returns and numbered sixth nationwide in the latter category.

BIGGEST THRILL
However, Kent admits that his biggest gridiron thrill was "our victory Saturday—beating Utah twice in a row!"

"Another great moment, of course," he adds, smiling, "was winning the WAC title."

Kent, from Payson, Utah, was also a mainstay on his Payson High School squad. He was a prep All-American as well as an All-State in both football and basketball.

FOUR SPORTS

A letterman in track, basketball, and baseball as well as football, "Obie", as he is called by fellow Cougar teammates, entered BYU on an athletic scholarship. His freshman year he participated in both football and basketball.

Concerning the upcoming Wyoming match, Oborn comments, "It's going to be a good game. They put the pressure on us right from the start, and we can't make any mistakes."

Kent is determined to be a spark in the Cougar lineup. The Wyoming and USD conquests are his last in collegiate play.

Rugby—A Rough Game As BYU Fans Will See

A pretty (shudder) home-crunching game before in New Zealand

That was the opinion of most curious spectators who watched the BYU Rugby team beat a Salt Lake club 21-0 two Saturdays ago on the football practice field.

More BYU students and faculty will have a chance to view this not-so-nice predecessor of American football on Nov. 26 when the same two clubs clash in Cougar Stadium following the conclusion of the BYU-Pacific game.

Rugby, the English version of football, started getting a toehold on major American campuses during the past five years. It started four years ago at BYU with now-Coach Bob Maynard and a handful of friends who had played the game before in New Zealand

Since then the sport has come a long way—both across the country and here at BYU.

Starting on the West Coast, rugby has spread deep into the Midwest and back East. Since such powers as Notre Dame, UCLA and California have enthusiastically supported the game, it has become an established college sport.

BYU's own Rugby club has blossomed to nearly 30 enthusiasts now—the team has full uniform and boasts an undefeated record for the past three years. Last year they pounced to Intermountain recognition when they defeated Washington State 6-3 at Pullman last spring.

Presenting the game ball to Pres. Ernest L. Wilkinson is young Gary Winter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lew Winter of Salt Lake City, and mascot of the Salt Lake Rugby club. They will collide with BYU in another game following the BYU-Pacific clash a week from Saturday.

Poles, Rise Make Grid Field Good

The Brigham Young University football field is uniquely interesting from the highest light poles in the country to the 18-inch raised field.

The light poles are the highest in the country, with the west side being 165 feet, or comparable to a 16-story building. The lights on the east are 163 feet high.

WELL-LIGHTED

The power flowing into the lights is 276,000 watts, or enough to completely light 230 average homes at once.

The grass of the field itself is Kentucky Blue grass. The field is 18 inches higher in the center than on either side insuring a dry field and quick runoff of rain water.

SEATS, BLEACHERS

The seats contain 17,000 tons of steel with 29,583 permanent seats and 5000 temporary bleachers in the end zones.

The condition of the football stadium success depends on the working efforts of the custodial department, ground work department and Security.

Coach Tommy Hudspeth receives a new pair of Florsheim Imperials from John Weymouth, sales representative of Al Hohman's Florsheim Shoe Shop in Salt Lake City. The BYU mentor was awarded the shoes for best of the winning team in last Sat. Utah game. Mr. Hohman, an avid makes the gift annually in football

Corps Forms New Ideas In Education

Headquarters of the Rocky Mountain Education Laboratory, a new corporation to implement new ideas in education, has been established at BYU.

The project, directed by Dr. Glen Ovard, covers an eight-state area including Utah, Colorado, Wyoming, Arizona, Idaho, Montana, Nebraska and Kansas. It is a private corporation assisted by a grant of $77,000 from federal and private sources.

RECOGNIZED LEADER

"BYU was selected as the center for the project because it is a recognized national leader in this area of education," Dr. Ovard stated.

In addition to being the RMLE headquarters, BYU is also the center for one of the five projects under research by the lab. Individualized instruction was selected as BYU's project because the University Department of Experimental Education, also headed by Dr. Ovard, has been working on it for seven years and has an extensive background in research.

The other projects conducted by the lab are: demonstration of new media and related materials, inservice teacher education by educational television, preservice training of teachers and affective behavior.

TWO OTHER CENTERS

In BYU's individualized instruction project, two other centers have been established as part of the research. One is at Weber State College in Ogden, headed by Blaine of Brazil, recognizing one of the piano teachers as a master teacher.

Zilian Professor Returns to BYU

He will conduct a master class for advanced students and teachers Wednesdays, 4 to 6 p.m. in the Recital Hall of the Harris Fine Arts Center. BYU students must register for credit, but piano teachers and advanced students in the area may audit the class free.

Prof. and Mme. Klass spent the summer in Brazil where Prof. Klass conducted his own piano school for many international artists. This is their second year at BYU.

LOVE THE CAMPUS

"We are in love with your state," Klass said. "We love the mountains and the climate, we love the campus, and we love the people."

"We are amazed to find a center of culture in Western America. All of the finest music comes here. And students are just as likely to speak to me in German, French, Portuguese or Russian as English."

Both were born in Russia, but are now naturalized citizens of Brazil. At an early age Klass showed a great talent and was sent to the Stern Conservatory in Berlin where he studied under Professor Martin Krause, a favorite pupil of Liszt. After concert and study tours he settled in Sao Paulo, Brazil, where he founded his piano school.

PARIS CONTEST

Prof. Klass was judge in the International Paris contest in 1951. For his artistic merits and development of French music, the French government decorated him with the medal "Les Palmes Académiques." He also has been decorated by the Brazilian government for his artistic accomplishments.

He can teach in six languages—French, Portuguese, German, Russian, English and Spanish. His courses have been mainly for pre-concertists.

A half-dozen of his pupils are now enjoying outstanding success in concert tours throughout the world. One of these, José Carlos Masselos, 25, recently completed a recording of the complete "The Well-Tempered Clavier" of Johann Sebastian Bach. It requires a set of seven records involving 48 preludes and fugues.

FAMOUS STUDENT

Another pupil, Ney Salgado, is receiving rave notices in European newspapers. Yara Burnette, who now resides in Europe, is considered one of the most famous women pianists in the world and is conceded by the Austrians as the outstanding interpreter of Brahms. His pupil, Anna Sola Sola, has given concertos in all of Europe as well as Asia. Lydia Semoes is considered the official interpreter of Camargo Guarnier and many of his compositions are dedicated to her.

Organ Recital To Be Given

Miss Claire Hendrix of Orem, a graduate student at BYU will present a public organ recital Thursday at 6:40 p.m. in the Provo Tabernacle.

GREAT MASTERS

Miss Hendrix has prepared a program from the great masters of organ composition—Buxtehude, Bach, Honegger, Peeters, Roger and Franck.

She has been a student of J. J. Keeler, University organist, and Parley Belnap, assistant professor of music and former organist of the Hyde Park Chapel in London.

TEACHES AT BYU

She teaches German language at BYU in addition to her private organ students. She is currently organizer for the BYU 41st Ward and St. Mary's Episcopal Church in Provo. She won the Clark Music Co. organ award in 1965.

Meet Ralph Frey Jr., 19 He's a college junior. He has a pilot's license. He can read 3,000 words a minute Watching Ralph's hand fly over the pages (his hand acts as a pacer), you can't believe that he's actually reading. He must be skimming.

But he's not.

Ralph Frey can read the average novel in a little under 40 minutes. Once, while standing in a bookstore, he read three complete novels before he was asked to leave.

He studies between 1,500 to 2,000 words a minute, and rarely dips below 1,000 wpm, even on the toughest material.

Good recall

Most significantly, however, is that he can comprehend and recall what he's read—right down to the details.

Ralph Frey is not a mental freak. Nor is he a naturally fast reader. He learned this revolutionary technique of rapid reading at the Evelyn Wood Reading Dynamics Institute.

Ralph was one of our better students. He started the course at about 400 words a minute and increased his rate 8 times. Our average student begins at about 300 words a minute and works up to speeds over 1,500 words a minute.

You can do this, too!

"Reading dynamically," says Ralph, "means that I can cover both the required and the suggested reading for a course during the first month of the semester. That leaves time for more extracurricular activities. On the weekend before an exam, I've read several complete texts."

Results are guaranteed

You may not learn to read quite as fast as Ralph Frey (and then again you might!), but the nationally known Reading Dynamics Institute guarantees that you'll at least triple your reading speed with good comprehension—or receive a full tuition refund.

Improvement by typical graduates in words per minute.

The technique of dynamic reading was discovered by a Utah schoolteacher.

Evelyn Wood first observed dynamic reading 18 years ago when a university professor read her paper at an amazing 6,000 words a minute.

Mrs. Wood's curiosity caused her to look for other exceptional readers, and over the next few years, she found 50 people who could read faster than 1,500 words a minute, with fine comprehension, outstanding recall, and great reading satisfaction. She was now sure it was possible to read faster than anyone had thought, but the question of how was not yet answered. It took 8 years of toil and research, working with "natural" fast readers before she developed a technique whereby average students learn to read 3 to 10 times faster.

The first Reading Dynamics Institute was opened in Washington, D.C., in September, 1959. Since that time institutes have been opened in 61 cities throughout the country, and national enrollment for the course now tops 150,000.

Comprehension is stressed.

At a recent teacher training conference Mrs. Wood emphasized that dynamic reading is nothing like the skimming techniques commonly used in speed reading courses. "You read five times faster," she pointed out, "not by reading every fifth word by reading five times as many words in the amount of time." Mrs. Wood emphasizes using her technique of rapid reading, even on the page is noted.
